What Is Bovine Colostrum?

Nature's First Superfood

Bovine colostrum is the nutrient-rich first milk produced by cows after calving. It is packed with immunoglobulins (IgG, IgA), growth factors, cytokines, probiotics, and other critical bioactives that support immune function, gut health, athletic performance, and recovery.

Why It Matters for Supplements

Colostrum supplements are used by individuals seeking to boost overall health and wellness. The key to efficacy lies in quality - potency, purity, and careful handling from cow to consumer are everything.

Best Science makes the Best Colostrum.

For more than 15 years, this family business has partnered with Galician (Northwest Spain) farmers to keep animals healthy. Our team works closely with farmers to ensure calves get what they need and excess colostrum is collected in the best way possible, preserving all bioactive nutrients. To get the full benefits, colostrum must be handled with extreme care from cow to you. This proprietary process, perfected over the years, and with most advanced scientific and processing technology ensures the highest quality and most consistent colostrum available.

Colostrum ND Pharma

Every product is certified and Quality Assurance inspected. Colostrum ND Pharma is the pinnacle of potency, premium quality, and customer assurance. Processing follows strict HACCP guidelines, resulting in the most whole colostrum available anywhere. Each batch undergoes rigorous internal and independent third-party lab analysis for purity and potency.
